FAWO: 50 years of driving innovation in the caravanning industry

FAWO was founded on 01 July 1974 in Walldorf. Originally trading as 'FAWO Vertriebs-GmbH für Fahrzeug- und Wohnwagenausrüstungsteile', the company's business activities consisted exclusively of sales.

Under the management of Peter A. Hohage, managing partner and director since 1984, FAWO has established itself as a permanent innovator and leading system provider for technical interior fittings in mobile vehicle construction, especially for camper vans. With a strict B2B strategy, a global reach and close collaboration with producers, suppliers and vehicle manufacturers, the company, which has been ISO-certified since 1997, is constantly developing new products which fulfill, alongside to their functionality, the highest quality and contemporary design standards. Also innovative in its own right, the barcode-controlled high-bay warehouse with around 6,000 stock items has been fully automated since 2002. The company, based in Nieder-Olm since 2001, has acquired an additional 7,500 square metres of neighbouring commercial space, on which, in addition to an expansion of the office and warehouse space, it will build state-of-the-art production areas – a future-orientated decision to the next 50 years of the FAWO success story.
